Suanne Camfield, Director of Engagement and Women's Ministry took a moment to chat with us on how the Deeper Still podcast developed and continues to evolve.

How did the concept for the Deeper Still podcast develop?

Suanne: The idea for Deeper Still came out of the disconnection and isolation we were all experiencing during the pandemic. It was a way we could connect when we couldn't connect to remind people that God is with them and they aren't alone.

What growth have you seen in the podcast content and the engagement of its listeners?

Suanne: It has turned into an amazing community who have created space to cut through the chaotic and the mundane to go "Deeper Still" in their relationship with God and with one another. The other awesome thing has been that people can listen on their own, process with a trusted friend or discuss as a small group. And honestly, it's not just for women. We have a number of guys who listen too.

What are listeners saying about the podcast?

Suanne: The feedback we've gotten has been amazing. Listeners tell us it has been such a source of encouragement, connection and growth for all those who have tuned in. If you have not discovered Deeper Still yet, I would encourage you to join this amazing community as we journey together, seek to expand our perspective on what it means to grow in our relationship with Christ and use our influence in this world.

The first season of Deeper Still walked through the book of James. Season 2 challenges us to expand our perspectives to grow our faith journey. FATHER'S DAY

FATHERHOOD, FAITH & FUN

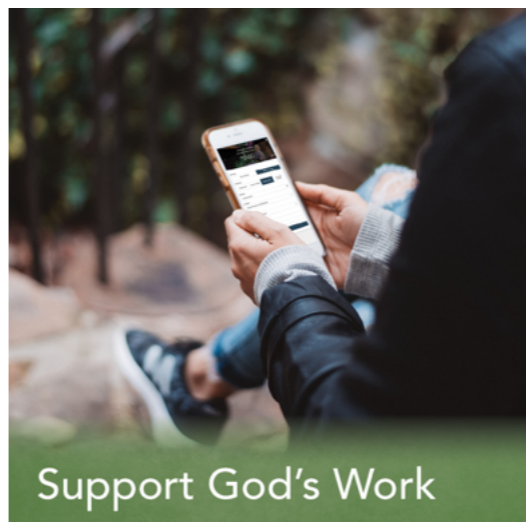

Join us Father's Day weekend! First, on Saturday at 3:00 p.m. we will be gathering outside in the parking lots at our Oak Brook campus to honor and celebrate our dads and the special men in our life. We'll have great worship, a message from Senior Pastor Dan Meyer, frozen treats, trucks and more trucks. Learn all about it here. Then join us for Sunday morning as we worship our Heavenly Father.

Our next Financial Peace University session starts July 11. To learn more and register, click here.
